Intro –

Trainer – The samurai always lives by codes a code of honor. A warrior's way.

From Toady onwards you people are no longer Maggots.

Starting from today you people are the Royal samurais of the empire. You are a part of a brotherhood.

From now on until you die. Where ever you are every member of the samurai is your brother.

Most of you will go to war. Some of you will never come back.

However, always remember this. Samurais die to protect the code the hold. That is why we are here.

However, the tales of honor remains forever and that means you live forever! Thus, live life protecting your code of honor. Never let the name of the samurai be tainted.

Every one - Sir, Yes, Sir....
